First Treated by Friedmann
Already Have Shown Improvement

GOVT. TESTS ARE DELAYED

Noted Specialist Has Gone to Canada to Demonstrate Tuberculosis Vaccine

NEW YORK, March 10.—The first patients in America to receive treatment for tuberculosis from Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann of Berlin already have begun to improve in health, according to Dr. Max Landerman, managing director of the Peoples hospital, where the Berlin physician demonstrated his treatment last week.

Dr. Landerman said the pains in the patients' chests have been allayed greatly and their coughing nearly has ceased. He referred to the treatment as remarkable.

Dr. Friedmann left tonight for Canada, where he plans to give demonstrations of his treatment. He probably will administer his serum tomorrow to patients under the auspices of the Royal Edward Institute, in Montreal. He will attend a tuberculosis convention in Ottawa Wednesday, and will demonstrate his vaccine there. He will treat 100 patients at the King Edward Institute at Toronto Thursday.

Meanwhile, the government officials who are investigating the treatment will gather more patients upon whom they will ask Dr. Friedmann to demonstrate when he returns here Friday.

Government Tests Delayed

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Surgeon General Blue of the public health service announced today that Dr. John E. Anderson, director of the hygienic laboratory, who, with Assistant Surgeon A. M. Stimson, witnessed a clinic at Mount Sinai hospital in New York yesterday, when Dr. F. Friedmann administered his vaccine to seven tuberculosis patients, will not begin the government's test until his return to Washington later in the week.

Dr. Anderson notified the surgeon general that Dr. Friedmann had not given him details for the culture of the vaccine, but that he expected to solve them when the latter returns from Montreal, next Thursday. In the meantime, Dr. Anderson and Dr. Stimson will continue to observe patients treated by Dr. Friedmann.

The surgeon general said today that the government would approach the test of the Friedmann vaccine with an open mind, and that nothing would be made public regarding the experiments until a most thorough test had been made. If the treatment is found to be good, the public will be told so; if it is found not to be good, the public will be so informed.

DEMOCRATS SPLIT; PUBLIC UTILITIES BILL IS IN DOUBT

By R. M. MCCLINTOCK.
DENVER, March 10.—With the Democratic majority apparently more hopelessly split than ever before, the consideration of the public utilities bill was begun in the house of representatives this afternoon. On motion of Speaker Skinner, in committee of the whole, senate bill No. 1, by Senators Burris and Van Tiborg, was substituted for the utilities bill introduced by Skinner and Rowan. The mere reading of the bill occupied practically the whole afternoon session.

"This is probably the most important bill to come before the legislature at this session," said Representative Kennedy of Eagle county, who was called to take the chair in committee of the whole. "I hope the members will pay close attention to the reading." The house applauded this sentiment.

Until Senator Patterson, through the Denver News, opened his entirely unexpected attack on the bill, its passage was considered certain. Now all is doubtful. Nobody knows what will happen. Speaker Skinner is standing for the bill as it came from the house, with possibly one or two amendments designed to strengthen it, and will use his utmost efforts to hold his forces in line.

Patterson Splits Own Party.
But there is no question that Senator Patterson's attack will divide the progressive Democrats. Already, it was reported in the News this morning, Representatives Arden and P. R. Gates, two of Skinner's trusted lieutenants, have deserted him, and will join the corporation Democrats in the attack that is to be made on the bill. Skinner denies this desertion, and there is no question he is wrong.

The opposition to the bill is being led in the house by Skiffert, Elmer and others of that faction of the Democracy that supported Speer in his day—the same faction that has been bitterly denounced, time after time.

FEDERAL TROOPS TAKE CITY MONCLOVA FROM THE REBEL GOVERNOR, CARRANZA Gen. Salazar Declares He Will Not Recognize Huerta as President of Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 10.—Federal troops are in possession of Monclova, which was occupied a few days ago by the rebel governor Venustiano Carranza, the latter moving eastward. He has 500 men and apparently is headed for Lampazos. Another federal detachment is proceeding northward from Monterrey.

After his defeat near Reata, Saturday, Carranza escaped to Monclova with a part of his forces, the others taking to the hills. Federal pursuit was slow, owing to the necessity of repairing bridges burned by the retreating rebels.

On the approach of the federals, Carranza evacuated the town, and the government troops captured a quantity of arms and ammunition which he left behind.

The revolt of Maytorena, former governor of Sonora, according to official report, is not meeting with popular support. An effort to raise 200,000 pesos in Guaymas resulted in his obtaining only 50,000.

Senor de la Barra, minister of foreign relations, points to this fact and others alleged to be in his possession, as a basis for the statement that the Sonora rebellion lacks the approval of the people.

The minister also said today that owing to information received of a possible affiliation of the Maderos with the rebellious movements, the government has taken steps to keep a close watch on the members of his family.

All Hope for Peace.

David de la Fuente, the prospective minister of communications and public works, who arrived here this morning.

D. A. R.'S OPPOSED TO STATE CONSERVATION

DENVER, March 10.—Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution all over Colorado today signing petitions protesting against the state control of the state resources, to be forwarded to Washington. The petitions are said to have been originated by Mary E. Pinchot, a sister-in-law of Gifford Pinchot, represented in this state by Mrs. R. G. Arthur of Canon City, regent of the General Marion chapter, and state chairman of the national conservation committee.

TWO MEN BURNED IN DENVER FIRE

DENVER, March 10.—Fire was discovered in the hayloft of the Arapahoe stables, Eighteenth and Arapahoe streets, shortly before midnight tonight. Before the firemen arrived, John Ryan, 45 years old, and Andrew Snell, colored, 25 years old, lodgers in a rooming house, occupying upper floors, were asphyxiated by smoke and three other lodgers were overcome and revived in the county hospital. Thirty-seven horses were saved. The damage was about $150.

President Wilson Greets Diplomats in Formal Manner

WASHINGTON, March 10.—While President Wilson already had dispensed with some of the formalities which hitherto have been observed by occupants of the White house, he demonstrated today that he would observe to the letter the international amenities of his office.

Probably the most formal ceremony in which Mr. Wilson ever has participated was his presentation to the diplomatic corps accredited to Washington by the civilization of the globe. In a semicircle of brilliant color, their uniforms gilded, perfusely with the insignia of their rank, 146 foreign representatives stood in impressive silence while the new president of the United States and the secretary of state, William Jennings Bryan, entered through the big doors of the east room.

The president and Secretary Bryan wore the conventional frock suits of formal occasion in America. The president was accompanied by his chief aide, Colonel Spencer Cosby, and his personal aide, Maj. Thomas L. Rhoads, both of them in the full dress uniform of the American army. On each side of the entrance six White house aides, three from the army and three from the navy, stood at attention.

In groups of six and eight the diplomats and their staffs were arranged. Chandler Hale, third assistant secretary of state, presented the president first to Ambassador Jusserand of France, dean of the diplomatic corps. Mr. Bryan was presented with similar ceremony. To each diplomat the president spoke a word of greeting, but the ceremony throughout was quietly formal.

After the president had met individually the circle of diplomats, he addressed them briefly, expressing the hope for the continuance of amicable relations between this nation and their respective countries, and indulging the wish that their service in Washington might be personally enjoyable.

On Wednesday the diplomatic corps will be entertained at tea at the White house with the members of their families.

EL PASO CO. WILL PAY
DIVIDEND OF $61,250
DENVER, March 10.—The annual meeting of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company was held at its offices here today. Nearly seven-eighths of the outstanding stock was represented.

These directors were elected: A. L. Harris, C. M. Heberton, J. C. Helm, Albert Efinger, W. M. Downing, W. W. Grant, A. C. Gardner, Horace Heath and Richard L. Parker. A dividend of 2 1/2 cents a share, a payment total of $61,250, was ordered.

BRANDEIS WILL BE WILSON'S ADVISER Presidential Party at the Theater Breaks Up Show for Awhile

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, who was frequently mentioned for a post in the Wilson cabinet, had a long, pleasant talk with the president at the White House tonight. It was the first time they had met since the days preceding the election in November, when Mr. Wilson was campaigning in Massachusetts.

Mr. Brandeis declined to discuss his plans. It was learned indirectly, however, that he will not be associated in any official connection with the administration, but will be consulted frequently when antitrust reform is undertaken. It is known that the president entertains a high regard for his views on the question of strengthening the Sherman antitrust law, the regulation of competition and the curbing of monopolistic practices.

President Wilson touched a button at the White house at 9 o'clock tonight that opened the Breeders and Feeders convention, and the show at Fort Worth, Tex. The only persons present were the telegraph operators and several attaches of the White house. Later the president, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Wilson, attended a theater.

When the president arrived at the theater and joined his family in a box he attracted so much attention that the performance had to be suspended for a few minutes. Applause and cheers drowned the voices of the players and quiet was not restored until the president had repeatedly bowed his acknowledgements.

Opens Big Show.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 10.—When President Wilson pressed a button in Washington tonight, hundreds of electric lights flashed on in a Fort Worth auditorium, a United States flag fell from its fastenings, revealing a picture of the president and while several thousand persons joined in prolonged cheering for Wilson the 1913 Fort Worth horse show and fat stock exhibition of the National Feeders and Breeders association was declared formally opened.

NO CAUSE YET DISCOVERED FOR DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

BALTIMORE, March 10.—At the first session tonight of the coroner's inquest into the deaths caused by the blowing up on Friday of the dynamite ship Alum China, A. C. Blum, sales agent of the company that manufactured the dynamite, testified that the company did not manufacture percussion caps.

One of the theories advanced in connection with the charges, Coroner Russell says several stevedores made to him, is that William Bomhardt, assistant foreman of the stevedores, stuck a bale hook into a box containing percussion caps, which exploded and set fire to the ship.

Alfred Mains, second mate of the Alum China, testified that he had spoken to the foreman of the careless way the stevedores were handling boxes of dynamite. He said he sent a stevedore ashore "because he was handling the boxes like bales of cotton."

The inquest probably will last until the end of the week.

MASSACRE FEARED IF SCUTARI FALLS Diplomacy Again Deadlocked. Allies Holding Out for Original Demands

LONDON, March 10.—The massacre of the entire population of the Turkish fortress of Scutari is probably what that city falls according to a traveler who writes to the Manchester Guardian. The newspaper gives prominence to the letter, saying that the writer has had every opportunity to know the temper of the Montenegrins and Serbian besiegers. It appeals to Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, and to the European powers, to take steps to avert such a massacre.

The writer says that the Serbian officers at the port of Durazzo boasted to him that they had exterminated the Moslem Albanian tribe of Lyuma. He continues:

"Later, a Montenegrin official assured me very earnestly: 'We have completely exterminated the Rugova tribes. When we had overpowered them, we made them all pass under the sword. I assure you that not one of

MANY WILL PROTEST DIVISION OF COUNTY

Special to The Gazette.
CALHAN, March 10.—Feeling in Calhan, Eastonville, Peyton, and all the surrounding country is running high against the scheme of Lem Gammon to have Divide county created from territory sliced out of El Paso and Elbert counties.

The people in this part of the country are almost unanimous against the creation of the county, even in those sections which it would include, and along its proposed border lines. A big indignation meeting is to be held here tomorrow night in the hall in the First National Bank building, and at that time resolutions opposing the division will be passed. These resolutions will be sent to the state legislature.

Acting in response to a request from the committee of counties and county lines of the legislature, four Colorado Springs men came out into this territory today with petitions protesting against the division. This is being done in order to ascertain the sentiment in regard to the creation of the new county in the territory most generally interested. The petitions have been signed universally wherever they were presented.

George Burdall, sheriff of El Paso county, and W. E. Kennedy, one of the county commissioners of that county, took the petitions into the southern part of the territory affected, while O. B. Collins of Colorado Springs and B. A. Banta, another of the El Paso county commissioners, took the district surrounding Calhan, Eastonville and Peyton. Both Collins and Banta are in Calhan tonight. They left petition blanks in Peyton and Eastonville today, and have also put out some in Calhan. These petitions in the three towns will be signed tonight and tomorrow, and will be taken to Colorado Springs Wednesday morning. Collins and Banta will make an expedition to the east and south of Calhan tomorrow with petition blanks. Both Collins and Banta will speak at the indignation meeting here tonight. A number of local citizens will also make short addresses.

INVENTS DEVICE TO ELECTROCUTE FLIES

Frank D. Warren of this city, editor of the Liberator, a Socialist weekly, has received a patent on a device he has invented for killing flies. It consists of two small parallel wires, placed close to a window pane. The wires are connected with dry batteries, and when the fly crosses them it closes the electric circuit through its body, acting as its own executioner. The device is not dangerous to handle, as an electric shock strong enough to kill a fly would hardly be felt by a human being. Warren intends to introduce his invention in the east at an early date.

Annual Meeting of El Paso in Denver Today

The annual meeting of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company, which has recently become one of the most powerful institutions operating in the metal industry in Colorado, will be held in Denver today.

Allen I. Burns, president of the El Paso, who has recently relinquished the company and added the Golden Cycle, the largest mine in the Cripple Creek district to its holdings, will arrive from New York to attend the meeting.

That the Burns interests will remain in control and that Mr. Burns himself will be re-elected president admits of practically no doubt. The company will shortly be absorbed by the Colorado Securities company of Delaware, which has been organized by Mr. Burns and Joseph Walker of New York as a holding company for the El Paso, Golden Cycle and other companies which may be acquired. The Securities company is capitalized for $25,000,000.

It is reported that the meeting may result in the settlement of the Apex suit for $1,500,000 filed by the El Paso company against the C. K. and N. company. It is also stated there may be a decision to annex 12 acres of claims to give the company "yellow room" in its merger development.

Ask Popular Vote on County Division

That the creation of Divide county out of parts of El Paso and Elbert counties be voted upon by the people of those counties, was the suggestion carried to legislative committee on counties and county lines, by Colorado Springs, Kiowa and Ramah men last Saturday.

Colorado Springs was represented by John Lennox, vice president of the chamber of commerce; Van Rouse, county commissioner, and O. E. Collins, a former member of the assembly. The Ramah delegation was headed by Lem Gammon, also a former legislator; A. T. Thorne and J. F. Woodward. Ramah wants to be the county seat.

Colorado Springs is trying to retain the east end on the ground that the business men here have been building up that territory, and that they are particularly interested in keeping it within county borders because of the work now being done by Prof. W. H. Lauck, the farming expert engaged by El Paso county.

The delegation informed the committee that it would be willing to leave the matter to a vote of the people of the counties concerned, if such a provision could be put in a county division bill.

Murder, Not Accident, Cause of Link's Death

James A. Link, a brother of Mrs. E. J. Smith of 732 East Kiowa, did not meet his death in a railroad wreck, as was reported in The Gazette two weeks ago, but was stabbed by an infuriated passenger of his train, who became enraged when he disarmed him of a revolver. Link was conductor on a passenger train out of Gunnison City, and was one day's run out of that place when a passenger, who had been drinking heavily, became noisy and drew a revolver, threatening the other passengers on the coach. Link took the gun away from him and went into the next car. Upon his return, the fellow jumped on his back and stabbed him through the shoulder almost to the heart. Link lived but 15 minutes after being stabbed.

PHTHISIS CURE HAS HELPED PATIENTS

First Treated by Friedmann Already Have Shown Improvement

GOVT. TESTS ARE DELAYED

Noted Specialist Has Gone to Canada to Demonstrate Tuberculosis Vaccine

NEW YORK, March 10.—The first patients in America to receive treatment for tuberculosis from Dr. Friedrich Prauz Friedmann of Berlin already have begun to improve in health, according to Dr. Max Landesman, managing director of the Berlin hospital, where the Berlin physician demonstrated his treatment last week.

Dr. Landesman said the pains in the patients' chests have been alleviated greatly, and their coughing nearly has ceased. He referred to the treatment as remarkable.

Dr. Friedmann left tonight for Canada, where he plans to give demonstrations of his treatment. He probably will administer his serum tomorrow to patients under the auspices of the Royal Edward Institute, in Montreal. He will attend a tuberculosis convention in Ottawa Wednesday, and will demonstrate his vaccine there. He will treat 100 patients at the King Edward Institute at Toronto Thursday.

Meanwhile, the government officials who are investigating the treatment will gather more patients upon whom they will ask Dr. Friedmann to demonstrate when he returns here Friday.

Government Tests Delayed.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Surgeon General Blue of the public health service announced today that Dr. John P. Anderson, director of the hygienic laboratory, who, with Assistant Surgeon A. M. Stimson, witnessed a clinic at Mount Sinai hospital in New York yesterday, when Dr. F. E. Friedmann administered his vaccine to seven tuberculosis patients, will not begin the government's test until his return to Washington later in the week.

Dr. Anderson notified the surgeon general that Dr. Friedmann had not given him details for the culture of the vaccine, but that he expected to receive them when the latter returns from Montreal, next Thursday. In the meantime, Dr. Anderson and Dr. Stimson will continue to observe patients treated by Dr. Friedmann.

The surgeon general said today that the government would approach the test of the Friedmann vaccine with an open mind, and that nothing would be made public regarding the experiments until a most thorough test had been made. If the treatment is found to be good, the public will be told so; if it is found not to be good, the public will be so informed.

DEMOCRATS SPLIT; PUBLIC UTILITIES BILL IS IN DOUBT

By R. M. MCCLINTOCK.

DENVER, March 10.—With the Democratic majority apparently more hopelessly split than ever before, the consideration of the public utilities bill was begun in the house of representatives this afternoon. On motion of Speaker Skinner, in committee of the whole, senate bill No. 1, by Senators Burris and Van Tibbore, was substituted for the utilities bill introduced by Skinner and Rowan. The mere reading of the bill occupied practically the whole afternoon session.

"This is probably the most important bill to come before the legislature at this session," said Representative Kennedy of Eagle county, who was called upon to take the chair in committee of the whole. "I hope the members will pay close attention to the reading." The house applauded this sentiment.

Until Senator Patterson, through the Denver News, opened his entirely unlooked for attack on the bill, its passage was considered certain. Now all is doubtful. Nobody knows what will happen. Speaker Skinner is standing for the bill as it came from the house, with possibly one or two amendments designed to strengthen it, and will use his utmost efforts to hold his forces in line.

Patterson Splits Own Party.

But there is no question that Senator Patterson's attack will divide the progressive Democrats. Already, it was reported in the News this morning, Representatives Arduore and P. A. Gates, two of Skinner's trusted lieutenants, have deserted him and will join the corporation Democrats in the attack that is to be made on the bill. Skinner denies this desertion, but there is no question he is worried.

The opposition to the bill is being led in the house, by Blatterly, Fincher and others of that faction of the Democracy that supported Speer in his day—the same faction that has been bitterly denounced, time after time,

FEDERAL TROOPS TAKE CITY MONCLOVA FROM THE REBEL GOVERNOR, CARRANZA

Gen. Salazar Declares He Will Not Recognize Huerta as President of Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 10.—Federal troops are in possession of Monclova, which was occupied a few days ago by the rebel governor Venustiano Carranza, the latter moving eastward. He has 500 men and apparently is headed for Laredo. Another federal detachment is proceeding northward from Monterrey.

After his defeat near Pecos Saturday, Carranza withdrew to Monclova with a part of his forces, the others taking to the hills. Federal pursuit was slow, owing to the necessity of repairing bridges burned by the retreating rebels.

On the approach of the federals, Carranza evacuated the town, and the government troops captured a quantity of arms and ammunition which he left behind.

The revolt of Maytorena, former governor of Sonora, according to official report, is not meeting with popular support. An effort to raise 200,000 pesos in Guaymas resulted in his obtaining only $5000.

Senor de la Barra, minister of foreign relations, points to this fact and others alleged to be in his possession, as a basis for the statement that the Sonora rebellion lacks the approval of the people.

The minister also said today that owing to information received of a possible affiliation of the Maderos with the rebellious movements, the government has taken steps to keep a close watch on the members of his family.

All Hope for Peace.

David de la Fuente, the prospective minister of communications and public works, who arrived here this morning,

D. A. R.'S OPPOSED TO STATE CONSERVATION

DENVER, March 10.—Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution all over Colorado today are signing petitions protesting against the state control of the state resources, to be forwarded to Washington. The petitions are said to have been originated by Mary E. Pinchot, a sister-in-law of Gifford Pinchot, represented in this state by Mrs. R. G. Arthur of Canon City, regent of the General Marion chapter, and state chairman of the national conservation committee.

TWO MEN BURNED IN DENVER FIRE

DENVER, March 10.—Fire was discovered in the hayloft of the Arapahoe stables, Eighteenth and Arapahoe streets, shortly before midnight tonight. Before the firemen arrived, John Ryan, 45 years old, and Andrew Snell, colored, 25 years old, lodgers in a rooming house, occupying upper floors, were asphyxiated by smoke and three other lodgers were overcome and revived at the county hospital. Thirty-seven horses were saved. The damage was about $150.

BRANDEIS WILL BE WILSON'S ADVISER

Presidential Party at the Theater Breaks Up Show for Awhile

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, who was frequently mentioned for a post in the Wilson cabinet, today was named as one of the president at the White House tonight. It was the first time they had met since the days preceding the election in November, when Mr. Wilson was campaigning in Massachusetts.

Mr. Brandeis declined to discuss his case. It has become definitely known, however, that he will not be associated in any official connection with the administration, but will be consulted frequently when antitrust reform is undertaken. It is known that the president entertains a high regard for his views on the question of strengthening the Sherman antitrust law, the regulation of competition and the curbing of monopolistic practices.

President Wilson touched a button at the White house at 9 o'clock tonight that opened the Brandeis and Feederly convention and horse show at Fort Worth, Tex. The only persons present were the telegraph operators and several attaches of the White house. Later the president, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Wilson, attended a theater.

When the president arrived at the theater and joined his family in a box, he attracted so much attention that the performance had to be suspended for a few minutes. Applause and cheers drowned the voices of the players and quiet was not restored until the president had repeatedly bowed his acknowledgments.

Opens Big Show.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 10.—When President Wilson pressed a button to Washington tonight, hundreds of electric lights flashed on in a Fort Worth auditorium, a United States flag fell from its fastenings, revealing a picture of the president and while several thousand persons joined in prolonged cheering for Wilson the 1913 Fort Worth horse show and stock exhibition of the National Feeders and Breeders association was declared formally opened.

NO CAUSE YET DISCOVERED FOR DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

BALTIMORE, March 10.—At the first session tonight of the coroner's inquest into the deaths caused by the ship Alvin China, a Blum, sales agent of the company that manufactured the dynamite, testified that the company did not manufacture percussion caps.

One of the theories advanced in connection with the charges, Coroner Russell says several stevedores made to him, is that William Bonhardt, assistant foreman of the stevedores, stuck a bale hook into a box containing percussion caps, which exploded and set fire to the ship.

Alfred Mains, second mate of the Alvin China, testified that he had spoken to the foreman of the careless way the stevedores were handling boxes of dynamite. He said he sent a stevedore ashore "because he was handling the boxes like bales of cotton."

The inquest probably will last until the end of the week.

EL PASO CO. WILL PAY DIVIDEND OF $61,250

DENVER, March 10.—The annual meeting of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company was held at its offices here today. Nearly seven-eighths of the outstanding stock was represented.

These directors were elected: A. L. Burris, C. M. Hebertson, J. C. Helm, Albert Ellinger, W. M. Downing, W. W. Grant, A. C. Gardner, Horace Heath and Richard L. Parker. A dividend of 24 cents a share, a payment total of $61,250, was ordered.

MASSACRE FEARED IF SCUTARI FALLS

Diplomacy Again Deadlocked. Allies Holding Out for Original Demands

LONDON, March 10.—The massacre of the entire population of the Turkish town of Scutari is feared by those who write to the Manchester Guardian. The newspaper gives prominence to the letter, saying that the writer has had every opportunity to know the temper of the Montenegrin and Serbian business. It appears to Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, and to the European powers, to take steps to avert such a massacre.

The writer says that the Serbian officers at the port of Durazzo boasted to him that they had exterminated the Muslim Albanian tribe of Luma. He continues:

"Later, a Montenegrin official assured me very earnestly: 'We have completely exterminated the Ruvoga tribes. When we had overpowered them, we made them all pass under the sword. I assure you that not one of them is left.'"

Special to The Gazette.

CALHAN, March 10.—Feeling in Calhan, Eastonville, Peyton, and all the surrounding country is running high against the scheme of Lem Gammon to have divided county created from territory sided out of El Paso and Elbert counties.

The people in this part of the country are almost unanimous against the creation of the county, even in those sections which it would include, and along its proposed border lines. A big indignation meeting is to be held here tomorrow night in the hall in the First National bank building, and at that time resolutions opposing the division will be passed. These resolutions will be sent to the state legislature.

Acting in response to a request from the committee of counties and county lines of the legislature, four Colorado Springs men came out into this territory today with petitions protesting against the division. This is being done in order to ascertain the sentiment in regard to the creation of the new county in the territory most vitally interested. The petitions have been signed universally wherever they were presented.

George Birdsall, sheriff of El Paso county, and W. T. Kennedy, one of the county commissioners of that county, took the petitions into the southern part of the territory affected, while O. E. Collins of Colorado Springs and S. A. Banta, another of the El Paso county commissioners, took the district surrounding Calhan, Eastonville and Peyton. Both Collins and Banta are in Calhan tonight. They left petition blanks in Peyton and Eastonville today, and have also put out some in Calhan. These petitions in the three towns will be signed tonight and tomorrow, and will be taken to Colorado Springs Wednesday morning. Collins and Banta will make an expedition to the east and south of Calhan tomorrow with petition blanks.

Both Collins and Banta will speak at the indignation meeting here tonight. A number of local citizens will also make short addresses.

Suffragettes Try to Place Po. President May Issue Call This Week—Leaders Urge Various Reforms

Text of the Petition.

The text of the petition, which the suffragettes proposed to hand to King George was as follows:

"The petition of the women of the United Kingdom, who have signed the petition, praying that the king should issue a royal warrant, appointing a commission to inquire into the state of the kingdom, and to report to the king, and to the parliament, on the state of the kingdom, and to recommend such measures as may be necessary for the improvement of the kingdom."

The petition was signed by 100,000 women, and was presented to the king at Windsor yesterday.

The king is expected to issue a royal warrant, appointing a commission to inquire into the state of the kingdom, and to report to the king, and to the parliament, on the state of the kingdom, and to recommend such measures as may be necessary for the improvement of the kingdom.

GOV. AMMONS' PET INSURANCE BILL IS RIDDLED IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Commissioner Will Be Put Under Civil Service and Salary Is Cut Down to $4,000

By R. M. MCCLINTOCK.

DENVER, March 10.—Governor Ammons' pet insurance bill, introduced by Representative Philip, and especially fostered by the governor, was slashed and cut tonight by the committee of the whole, in the house, until, when the session closed, it could hardly be recognized. The provision in the bill, especially objected to by its opponents, giving the governor the right to appoint the commissioner, was stricken out, and the commissioner placed under civil service.

The salary of the commissioner was reduced from $5,000 to $4,000, and with these changes the bill will differ but little from the present insurance law.

With the power of appointment withdrawn from the governor's hands, the principal reason for Ammons' strenuous support is lost. The governor probably would have reappointed William L. Clayton state insurance commissioner, who is holding office in spite of the civil service commission.

The committee tonight only took up 10 pages of the 80 making up the bill, but from the attitude shown, but little doubt remains that other objectionable features will be cut out at the next meeting. The reactionary Democrats joined with the Progressives and Republicans in the fight on the provisions cut from the bill.

State Officials Benefited?

Since The Gazette began its fight upon the Philip insurance bill, evidence has flowed in from all sides showing how closely business and politics are united in support of the bill. Governor Ammons was not the only member of the present administration who would have been benefited by the passage of the bill as it was drafted. Stephen R. Fitzgarrald, lieutenant governor of the state, is first vice president of the Aegis Life Insurance company of Denver, which would have been one of the beneficiaries of the bill.

GOV. AMMONS' PET INSURANCE BILL IS RIDDLED IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

bill. John P. Vivian, the former Republican state chairman, is secretary of the Aegis, and L. C. Greenlee is treasurer.

Fitzgarrald has spoken to friends in the house in favor of the bill. "I say he has not lobbied," merely spoken favorably of it. Governor Ammons' Partners Life company, therefore, is not the only one of the Colorado companies able to put political influence behind the bill.

It is said that if the lists of stockholders could be made public, it would show that the officers who have been named are not the only ones who would be found to have a pecuniary interest in the passage of the Philip bill.

Divide Bill Favored.

In token of defeat, friends of Ammons county today took down the large map that has adorned the wall of the house chamber. They promised to be back next year. However, Representative Lattinich of Pueblo promises to move a reconsideration of Saturday's vote tomorrow, but he admits there is no hope of favorable action.

Opponents of the Sunshine county bill succeeded in having it referred back again this morning to the committee on county lines. County division bills, it is conceded, will have hard sledding from this time on. The Divide county bill was reported favorably from the committee, with the Elbert county portion of the proposed new county is now to be taken entirely from El Paso county. There is some possibility that the bill will pass.

John Mitchell, the labor leader, spoke before a joint session of the house and senate, in the house chamber, at 1:30 this afternoon. He scored Colorado for its ghastly mine accident record. He asserted that three times as many men were killed and injured, proportionately, in Colorado mines as in the mines of Pennsylvania.

NEW YORK MAY LIMIT HOURS FOR FACTORY GIRLS

ALBANY, N. Y., March 10.—Without opposition, the senate tonight passed a bill which is designed to prohibit the employment of women in factories after 10 p. m. or before 6 a. m. The measure, which already has passed the assembly, now goes to Governor Sulzer. It grew out of the recent legislative investigation of factory conditions in the state, including the canning industry.

ENGLAND ALARMED BY EUROPEAN ARMS

LONDON, March 11.—(Tuesday)—The alarming development of European armaments and the open references of the German press to the possibility of a French war of revenge, creates a feeling of anxiety in Great Britain and the London morning papers express disappointment at the omission in the king's speech at the opening of parliament of any indication of the government's intentions with regard to further defensive measures to meet the growth of continental armaments.

The subsequent debate on the address, however, brought an important statement from Premier Asquith, Lord Hugh Cecil had voice the current rumors that the government was embarking on a dangerous foreign policy and had entered into an agreement in certain contingencies to throw a British expeditionary army across the channel.

The prime minister suddenly jumped up and said:

"I ought to say at once that is not true." This explicit denial was received with loud cheers.

KING PROTECTED

Of only two days, the briefest recess on record.

The stately ceremony was performed in the house of peers. The king and queen took their places on the throne in the presence of a great gathering. The opening was preceded by the usual procession from Buckingham palace to Westminster hall, the center of the brilliant picture being the great gilded glass coach drawn by the famous Hanoverian cream-colored horses, whose sole duty is to participate in these pageants.

A drizzling rain fell throughout the day but this had no effect on the tens of thousands of sightseers. The king's speech from the throne was devoted chiefly to the Balkan war, expressing the earnest desire of the European powers to hasten the conclusion of peace.

His majesty opened with a reference to the jubilee of the marriage of his parents, King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra. He expressed gratitude for the affection shown by the nation to the widowed queen mother, Alexandra.

Speaks of Balkan War.

"Of the Balkan war, the king said: 'I am hopeful that the consultations between the powers will enable them not only to secure a complete understanding among themselves, but to exercise a beneficial influence in hastening the conclusion of the war.'"

His majesty referred to the action of the British dominions, which have contributed vessels to the British navy, and also to the visits of Robert L. Borden, Canadian premier, and other overseas ministers. These things he said promoted the solidarity of the empire.

"The discussions now proceeding in the cabinet on matters of defense," he added, "testify to the universal desire, within the empire for the maintenance of the common safety."

The forthcoming estimates were merely mentioned.

The forecast of legislation to be introduced was restricted. Apart from the introduction again of the home rule and the Welsh disestablishment bills, the only important measure will be bills to facilitate land purchase in Ireland, the guarantee of a Sudan loan for the development of cotton growing to prevent plural voting at elections and for a national system of education.

"Searching the Vaults."

The time-honored ceremony known as "searching the vaults" beneath the house of commons and the house of lords, which has been carried out since the attempt of Guy Fawkes in 1605 to blow up the king and parliament, but which in later years has been performed in a most perfunctory manner, again was undertaken seriously today.

A party of yeoman of the guard, from the Tower of London, went carefully through the building, accompanied by one of the chief officials of parliament and by inspectors of police and other high functionaries. All of these made a thorough search for any lurking subterfuges. The greatest care was taken in issuing tickets to ladies for the actual ceremony of the opening.

Threats had been made to create a scene when the king arrived to read his speech from the throne.

Women Burn Station.

LONDON, March 10.—Militant suffragists today set fire to the Saunderton station of the Great Western railway and burned it to the ground. Saunderton is about 31 miles from London. Two placards were found in the vicinity on which were painted the words:

"Burning to get the votes" and "Votes for women."

SPRINGS CHURCH PROTESTS AGAINST SEVERAL BILLS

DENVER, March 10.—This morning El Paso county senators and representatives received from the First Baptist church of Colorado Springs night letters protesting against the passage of the racetrack gambling, the prize fight and the segregated vice bills, now pending in the legislature.

Capt. Bill Tires of Effete East; Going Back to Tex.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(Tuesday)—Donald D. Tires, a member of the Texas National Guard, after the Battle of Pancho Villa and before the election of Governor Clegg, is tired of the effete East and its trappings and is going back to Texas.

Captain Tires was a member of the Texas National Guard and was with the Texas National Guard during the Battle of Pancho Villa.

"I'm going back to Texas," he said, in incoherent tones.

"I don't like these effete Easters you get around this place. My feet are getting tired and I want to plant them in an acre of plowed ground."

Captain Tires is a native of Texas and a United States marshal in Texas.

Man Gives Blood for Enemy; Friendship Is Restored by the Act

YONKERS, N. Y., March 10.—The broken friendship of James J. Lynch, a contractor, and Thomas Morris, Jr., an iron manufacturer, is mended today because of a sacrifice of blood by which Lynch has saved Morris' life.

Weak with a wasting illness, Morris' condition was such that his physician sent word from the sick room that a transfusion of blood from a healthy person was needed to bring about recovery. Lynch, learning of the appeal, declared he would force a business disagreement that made him and Morris enemies.

It was not until Lynch appeared at Morris' bedside and bared his wrist for an incision that Morris knew who had volunteered. Lynch stood the operation successfully and both men will recover.

to see pacification, in which work they desired to assist.

Emilio Campo, a former Orozco lieutenant, who accompanied Senor de la Fuente, probably will be designated to assist in exterminating the Maytorena rebels. He has an intimate knowledge of the country where they are operating.

Pascual Orozco, Jr., who was expected to arrive at the capital tonight and in whose honor a great demonstration had been planned by various organizations, will not reach here before tomorrow.

General Felix Diaz dropped from sight today. It is announced that he has gone to a nearby ranch for rest and recuperation. The health of General Diaz has been affected by the strain of the last few weeks, but his condition is not regarded as serious.

Ask Retention of Wilson.

A delegation from the American colony in the capital is preparing to proceed to Washington to request President Wilson to retain Henry Lane Wilson as ambassador to Mexico.

Colonel Sanchez, ex-chief of the rurales in the state of Guerrero, with 500 men has revolted and is reported to have sacked several small towns. The revolutionist leaders, Jesus Salgado, Julia Radilla and Juan Andres Almazan, also are reported to be raiding villages and haciendas in Guerrero.

Private advices indicate the situation in the state of Sonora is grave and, in addition to the federal troops now on the way, the government is trying to dispatch 2,000 regulars to that territory.

A report reached the government tonight that American filibusters are organizing a band of several hundred Americans and Mexicans in Arizona for the invasion of Sonora.

On account of the disappearance of a majority of the members of the legislature in Coahuila, and the nonexistence of the constitutional state government, Gen. Ezequiel Rascon has been named as military governor. The official announcement is made that Abraham Gonzalez, ex-governor of Chihuahua, started for the capital Saturday night, but was stopped at Torreon by a guard and sent back to Chihuahua, by request of the state authorities.

Federals Quit Garrison.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 10.—Federal soldiers driven to the border, after being routed yesterday from the mining towns of Nacozari and El Tigre tonight, are preparing to quit Agua Prieta, opposite this point, and leave the border town to the victorious state troops.

General Ojeda, commander of the Huerta garrison at Agua Prieta, asserts that it is fear of international complications that will cause him to evacuate. The American and Mexican border towns are located almost as one community.

Combined with the original garrison at Agua Prieta are 175 federal soldiers, driven from Nacozari after a two days' fight, and the 100 Huerta soldiers who fled from El Tigre, only to be overtaken by the Constitutionalists and deprived of their arms. This will make the Agua Prieta garrison of nearly 500 men, with machine guns. The rebels secured one rapid-firer from the El Tigre garrison, and greatly exceed in numbers the defenders of the port.

While prepared to attack at sunrise with fully 1,000 men, combining the many groups of state troops to the south of this point, the insurgent leaders are said to have agreed to await the peaceful departure of the federals. The appeal that an attack on Agua Prieta would mean a shower of bullets over the American town of Douglas is said to have met with an understanding between the opposing forces.

It is expected that tomorrow Ojeda's command will move west along the Arizona border, combining with the small federal garrisons at the ports of Nogales and Naco, Sonora.

Salazar Opposes Huerta.

EL PASO, Tex., March 10.—Gen. Jose Inez Salazar, Orozco's rival commander of the former anti-Madero rebels of Chihuahua, today came out flat-footed against Provisional President Huerta in a written communication to the press. OTHER STATES TO TAKE UP VICE INVESTIGATION

CHICAGO, March 10.—Lieut. Gov. Taft O'Hara, chairman of the Illinois senate committee investigating "white slavery," has received communications from the governors of Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio informing him that they will include in their next messages to their legislatures a recommendation for the appointment of commissions endowed with the same plenary powers as the Illinois body.

"The movement promises to develop the most important stand against white slavery that ever has been undertaken," said Mr. O'Hara last night. "Each committee would investigate conditions in its own state as ours is doing, but there would be joint sessions and conferences; and the records of each body would be available to all of the others."

ADMIRAL PEARY HEADS SCOTT FUND IN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, has consented to become president of the American branch of the Scott memorial fund and cooperate with the Mansion house fund in London to provide a fitting memorial to Captain Scott and his men, who perished on their return from the South pole. The American committee hopes to raise $10,000.

HUNTINGTON WILSON TO RETAIN PLACE FOR WHILE

WASHINGTON, March 10.—At the request of Secretary Bryan, Huntington Wilson, the assistant secretary of state, has cancelled reservations to sail for Europe, and will remain with the department for the present. Formal announcement of Mr. Wilson's change in plans was made late today. No one at the department would discuss the assistant secretaryship, but it is known that Mr. Wilson is anxious to surrender the office as soon as possible.

PRES. WILSON IS A FAN

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President Wilson probably will take advantage of his presidential baseball pass when the Washington team opens the American league season here, April 10, with New York. Former President Taft last year pitched the ball into the field for the opening game, and President Wilson this season may do the same.

It is not unlikely that the president frequently will be a spectator at the big games, for it is known he is somewhat of a "fan."

WILSON WARNED NOT TO BE "CRANK" BY BRITISH

LONDON, March 11.—(Tuesday)—President Wilson's teetotal policy at the White house has aroused the resentment of the London Standard, which editorially warns the president against "gaining the fatal reputation of a crank."

Other papers refrain from comment, but the Daily Mail has taken occasion to ascertain that there are about 100 teetotalers in the British house of commons, and on this point remarks that President Wilson's ideas would not suit the majority of the British and Irish members.

DENVER AND ITS PAPERS

THE Citizens' Protective League, an organization formed in Denver to put a stop to the newspaper blackguardism for which that city is famous, seems to be making itself felt. Last Sunday the Denver Press Club adopted resolutions denouncing the League's activities, and the Trades and Labor Assembly debated the subject with considerable heat.

That sort of opposition will not benefit either Denver or its newspapers. For everybody knows the plain truth that those papers are more responsible than any other factor for giving Colorado a bad reputation abroad. They magnify every crime and scandal, every political upheaval, every accident, every unpleasant and undesirable thing of all kinds, and spread it before the world in a fashion calculated to make outsiders believe that Colorado is the very fountainhead of every conceivable sort of trouble.

This is not an individual opinion, it is the sober conclusion of everybody who is familiar with conditions. The Denver papers have kept the capital city in a turmoil for years with their petty rivalries, their wholesale vilifications, and the grafting and blackmailing for which at least one of their number is notorious. Such conditions could not long continue in any other city in the land, and it is a reproach to the people of Denver that they have so long tolerated them. The only just criticism of the Citizens' Protective League is that it did not come into existence long ago.

THE U. S. AND MEXICO

THE LITERARY DIGEST prints a summary of European press opinions, mostly English, as to the attitude of the United States toward Mexico. The papers quoted agree, in the words of the Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, that "the United States must now intervene and put in action the forces so promptly gathered to the land and sea borders of Mexico."

Certain of the English papers comment on the seriousness of such action and its probable cost in money and lives. But this makes no difference to them. They frankly admit that since a great deal of English capital is invested in Mexico, it must be protected, and where is there a better protector than Uncle Sam?

Fortunately the occasion for intervention seems to have passed. The downfall of Madero has been succeeded by a period of calm, and though it may be only the calm that precedes a storm, so long as it lasts there is no occasion whatever for interference. Huerta's method of attaining power is not likely to win him the respect of the world, but Americans are at least grateful for relief from the suspense which attended the two weeks' struggle for possession of the city.

It is easy to understand the attitude of the European press, and it must be admitted that their position is sound. By this we mean that if affairs in Mexico should reach an intolerable stage, where intervention was necessary, the United States alone must take a hand. The Monroe Doctrine denies to European nations the right to interfere in this continent, and they in turn demand that the United States guarantee the stability of Latin-American governments and the security of life and property. The obligation is too plain for evasion, but when the cost of such a course is contemplated we must fervently hope that the present peace in Mexico will be permanent.

THE FREE SEED GRAFT

A FEW days ago the Senate struck out of the agricultural appropriation bill the item of $246,450 for the free congressional seed distribution. If this means that the free seed graft has at last been stopped it is a matter of great importance. But so many unsuccessful attempts have been made in this direction that it is almost too much to hope that the appropriation will not be made anyway.

The annual distribution of seeds at the expense of the Government is one of the time honored perquisites of members of Congress. It started a great many years ago with the idea of supplying to the people new varieties of seed which the Department of Agriculture wanted to introduce in this country. Farmers and others could not readily obtain such seed from other sources, and Congress thought it would stimulate agriculture, if the Government would undertake the task.

Of course there are many requests for free seeds and many congressmen soon realized the possibilities of the seeds as a vote-getter. So the custom became firmly established of franking large quantities of garden seeds to long lists of constituents in every congressional district. But instead of new and unusual varieties they are mostly such commonplace kinds as cucumber, radish, lettuce, onion, etc. The distribution costs the Government approximately a quarter of a million dollars annually for the purchase and packing of the seeds in addition to the cost of mailing. Inasmuch as it serves no good purpose whatever repeated efforts have been made to abolish it, but always without success because, like the pork barrel bill, it helps to keep the congressman solid with his constituents.

THE BUDGET SYSTEM

ONE of President Taft's last official acts was to send a message to Congress advocating the adoption of the budget system in governmental appropriations. He suggested as a beginning the creation of a Congressional Budget Committee to which the estimates of appropriations of the various departments and committees referred. It seems that our Government is the only one that adheres to the old-fashioned wasteful system of allowing each department to get what it can from the treasury regardless of the others or of the total amount. The adoption of the budget plan would be a marked improvement because it would insure greater economy. The annual appropriations would be made in accordance with a definite plan whereby the needs of each department would be decided according to the needs of all others and of the total amount of revenue available.

The urgent need of greater economy in Government expenditures ought to make the adoption of the budget plan a matter for serious consideration in the next session of Congress.

CONSERVATION AND GROWTH

"THE conservation policies of Pinchot have retarded the growth of Colorado," says Congressman Keating's Pueblo Leader. "Thank God, they are at an end."

The first assertion lacks proof. The second has been effectually disproved. Otherwise both are all right. Most people who are in the best position to know the workings of the conservation policy in Colorado, such as the stockmen, agree that it not only has done no harm but has produced great benefits.

As to this policy being "at an end," the Leader would do well to learn the attitude of President Wilson and Secretary of the Interior Lane on this subject. Both are conservationists, and moreover both are advocates of national, as opposed to state, conservation. If the Leader expects to see the public domain opened to private exploitation by any action of President Wilson's it is doomed to almost certain disappointment.

FITNESS FOR OFFICE

THE important question to be decided by the voters in choosing a Mayor next month is whether experience and special fitness for the position shall govern. In other words, is it better to elect a man who by reason of four years' service as City Attorney has acquired an intimate knowledge of every branch and department of the municipal government and who has already demonstrated his capacity for hard work, his sincerity and high ability, or one who would have to spend at least six months getting acquainted with his job before he could begin to earn his salary.

Judged by this test Charles L. McKesson should be the next Mayor of Colorado Springs.

THE INDIAN

To the Editor of The Gazette.
The tone of your editorial in your issue of the 19th ult., on the education of the Indian, strikes me as being decidedly unjust.

You say that Carlisle instructors cannot overcome the hereditary distaste of the Indian for work, and that "99 per cent will probably remain wards of the nation to the end." This is unjust because it is incorrect. A casual inspection of a few tribes will show that the red man has shown a remarkable industry in the face of overwhelming discouragements. Francis A. Walker, United States Commissioner of Indian Affairs for the year 1872, states that of the 200,000 Indians in the United States, exclusive of Alaska, 120,000 were absolutely self-supporting, receiving no help from the government; 84,000 more were helped in part only by the nation. This is quite different from the impression conveyed in the editorial mentioned.

The Delawares had great fields of corn on the Miami river as long ago as 1795. Twice during that year General Wayne cut down and burnt the young crops, and as often did the Indians replant the fields. In 1838 the tribe had 1,500 acres of land in grain and vegetables, and had a great many hogs, horses and cattle. This tribe prospered even after it was removed to Kansas. In 1862 its per capita wealth in personal property was $1,000. In 1868, although nearly all the young men were, or had been, in the Union army, and there were only about 1,000 people on the reservation, the tribe raised 12,000 bushels of grain, 15,000 bushels of potatoes and some 5,000 head of cattle.

In 1870 this tribe had so improved its land that the more energetic white farmers of the Indian territory were ruthlessly removed to the Indian territory. All their hard work was in vain their homes were violated, their sacrifices for the nation during the war ignored. There are few blacker pages in history than this, and here will be found the reason the Indian of today is, perhaps, not particularly anxious to develop farms, which, more than likely, will be taken from him as soon as they are worth taking.

For the Delawares are not the only tribe so treated. The Nez Percés, according to the Rev. Mr. Spaulding, were thrifty and prospering greatly, until the white men wanted their farms; then they were removed to the Indian territory, so as to prevent any "wars." The same is true, in the main, with the Sioux, and with other tribes too numerous to mention.

The Indians of Canada are closely related to those of this country, but it has been a long time since Canada had any serious trouble with her wards. She has treated them squarely, whereas the United States has been utterly without sense of honor. I think I am justified in saying that when treated justly, the Indian is not lazy, but has the making of a valuable citizen. There are plenty of references to support my contention, too.

THERON CROWNSHIELD,

FROM OTHER PENS

FATE.
From the New York Tribune.
A brave man journeys to the South pole. All the way there and back he and his comrades have good weather and good luck. Amundsen tells that that courageous journey was like a pleasure trip.

Another brave man reaches the South pole. And, returning, a gale with unimagineable cold overtakes him and kills him—him and his companions.

"The one shall be taken and the other left."

NONRESIDENT MEMBERSHIP.

From the New York American.
When the next congress assemblies at Washington, many familiar faces will be missing in both houses. The idea of representation by local men has been carried too far in this country. It often forces men of great ability and high character to retire from public life after they have proved their worth and have served their country with distinction.

The accident that caused a distinguished Democrat to reside in a Republican constituency should not debar him from congress or a state legislature for life. In the old days of pocket boroughs before the reform bill was passed in England, nonresident membership in parliament grew to be a scandal because it gave seats in the house of commons to men who could not be elected fairly on their records. But the fault lay with the pocket boroughs and not with nonresident membership. This country hit at the latter and not at the former in the early days of reform fever. The United States has no nonresident members in congress, but it has several pocket boroughs and other glaring violations of the principle of representation by population.

Prejudice and lack of understanding of the general principle of nonresident membership are depriving this country of the services of some of its ablest public men. It also tends to make congress parochial. Each member tries to get appropriations for his constituency instead of studying the needs of the whole country. When it comes to reelection the size of the "pork-barrel" is more important than statesmanship. In other countries the leader of a great party in the house would not remain without a seat as long as his party had possession of any. The Republican leader of the house of representatives and the most experienced man in that body will be excluded from the field of his life's labors on account of the prejudice and the law against nonresident membership. We have too few men of this class in public life today. We cannot spare the few we have.

We need less Latin in America and a more widely diffused knowledge of how to drape one's self on the back of a chair and address the stuff-fet multitude in such a manner as to jar the chandeliers with applause.

Price Versus Value

By RUTH CAMERON.

Price and value are not the same thing. No doubt that is entirely obvious to you, Reader Friend, but there are a great many people to whom it is not clear. A great many people who build their lives on the shifting sands of that characteristically Twentieth century mistake.

Every article which we own, and buy, and sell has a price.

Every article also has a value. Now, if you look up these two words in the dictionary you will find that price means a sum of money which anything is rated to be worth, whereas value means "the properties of a thing rendering it useful or desirable."—In other words, its beauty, its durability, its fitness, its utility.

Surely the distinction is plain, and yet in these days of false ideals and confused standards it seems to me that three out of five people confuse these two words, or worse still, substitute price for value.

I happened to be standing in a furniture shop the other day near two young women who were buying a bureau.

The choice had narrowed down to two pieces, one a simple affair following the old Colonial lines, the other much larger and of a florid design. The price of the two articles was very nearly the same. After looking them over for some time, the purchaser finally turned to her companion and said, "Which looks as if it cost the most?" Her companion answered that the larger bureau had that appearance, and that settled it. Now it was perfectly evident that one of those bureaus must have been more suitable for her home than the other. It was painfully evident that the one rejected was a better built piece of furniture and had better lines. There were the considerations of value on which she should have based her choice. But she didn't care about value. What she wanted was price, or rather the appearance of price.

A frank young person was displaying some of the Christmas gifts she had purchased for her girl friends. "I hope they look as if they cost 60 cents," she said, "for that's what makes my Christmas shopping take so long, trying to get little things for a quarter that will look as if they cost 30 cents."

"Wouldn't it be better to simply try to get things that will please your friends regardless of what they appear to cost?" asked her companion. But the young person couldn't see it that way. You see, she was one of those people who substitute price for value.

Another girl was dissatisfied with a beautiful fur which her father gave her for Christmas, "because no one would know that it cost as much as it did." The fur was luxuriously warm and exquisitely beautiful, the value could scarcely have been improved, but just because she feared the price was not sufficiently evident, the fur was spoiled for this foolish young woman.

To care for things because they are beautiful or useful, or desirable in any real way, and not merely because they cost, or appear to cost a great deal of money, is the sign of a high order of intelligence. It is also a sign that its possessor will find it far easier to be happy than those who substitute price for value.

AFTER DINNER SPEAKING

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Slawash"

"After-dinner speaking is a mutual sorrow which is shared with great loyalty by the speaker and the speaker. It is a part of the price of the dinner—the second installment, which is payable immediately after the Senegambian coffee has been sipped and the extravagant cigars in red and gold uniforms have been lighted.

After-dinner speaking originally consisted of humor and frivolity, with a little eloquence now and then, if the dainties were good natured. During the Chaucery M. Dewey era of after-dinner speaking, three good stories made a speech, and the man who could tell three good stories, all of tender age, never dined at home.

I DO NOT KNOW WHY I SHOULD HAVE BEEN CALLED ON THIS EVENING

"A mutual sorrow which is shared with great loyalty by the speaker and the speaker."

Nowadays, after-dinner speaking is a duty and the dinners are provided in order to repay the crowds for listening to the speeches. In order to hold 1,000 men through three four-furlong speeches on irrigation, conversation and the necessity of differential rates, it is necessary to seat them at tables where they can't get out. Instead of selling oratory at $1 per head per listener, it is now necessary to give away a seven-course dinner as a bonus.

This is largely because speech-making has changed. Formerly a speaker tried to see how long he could soar on the wings of metaphor without falling off. Now the orator comes to the annual dinner of the Amalgamated Sons of Thunder bulging with statistics, and when his turn comes, he ladies out information until the janitor turns out the lights.

There are 11,765,432 public dinners in the United States each year, and this requires a total of over 30,000,000 after-dinner speeches. About 10,000,000 Americans speak now and then at a dinner. Of these over 100 are good speakers. Of the rest several thousand have something to say. The principal object of the vast and perspiring remainder is to get through.

We now have enough technical schools in this country to turn out twice as many engineers as can be provided with jobs, but no intelligent effort is being put forth to increase the number of men who can make an after-dinner speech in such a manner as to make the audience glad it came. Millions of our young are being taught Latin, but while the nation still awakens with timid, suffering men who have received years of free education and have been taught nothing of after-dinner speaking except to say in a humorous way, "I do not know why I should have been called on this evening."

We need less Latin in America and a more widely diffused knowledge of how to drape one's self on the back of a chair and address the stuff-fet multitude in such a manner as to jar the chandeliers with applause.

FAR FROM "GREEN PASTURES"

(Inscribed With Respect to Rev. Adna W. Moore.)

Far from "green pastures," Father mine,

Where the still waters sweetly sleep,

I wandered thro' wild, weedy ways,

And o'er storm-waves of ocean's deeps

And among dark nooks and tangled paths,

Where pure, fair flowers no incense shed,

Where Folly's glamour lured my heart,

And my frail, errant footsteps led.

Altho' oft darkling shadows dropped

O'er gay hours I'd not fain forget,

To warn me of the coming gloom

Of sorrow, pain, remorse, regret,

I would in reckless mood repress

The fears my life had borne of sin.

That had reared every heart-pulse sore—

Nay, soiled my very soul within.

But, ah, at last, O Father mine,

Thro' dear Christ's tender pleas of love,

Athwart all Folly's pathways vile

A golden light has come to show

And show me the throne the poison weeds.

The tangled brambles on each sod—

Swift quenched the false gleams glimmering from the shadows of sin.

The rude spots my feet oft had trod,

And, then, O thank Thee, Father mine,

It joyous led me far apart

From Folly's haunts that had so long

Been held dear in my erring heart!

And guided me with radiant beams

To "pastures green" of hallowed rest.

"Beside still waters," where pure bliss

Thrilled every pulse within my breast.

Ah, there, in some pure, fragrant spot,

If I be laid, the weary heart—

Nay, in the shadow of death's e'en—

Of evil 'twill ne'er have a dread!

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 11, 1883.

A large number of prominent citizens of Colorado Springs and Manitou issued a call for a mass meeting to be held at Court House hall to consider ways and means for advertising the two towns.

It had been decided to close the Home for Friendless Children, and the children in the home were being provided for by securing their adoption into various families.

The city council held a special meeting and appointed judges for the coming city election.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE CRISIS IN JAPAN.

III. TANGLED POLITICS.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

When General Baron Uehara, minister of war, demanded money for 40,000 more men on the pretext of giving Korea very necessary defense, the emperor and premier, Marquis Saionji, was facing a deficit of $3,250,000 in the annual expenses, notwithstanding the fact that they were $1,500,000 lower than the budget of the year before. All this was aside from the terrible financial tangle which was outlined in the preceding article.

The minister also insisted that the reduction of from 10 to 15 per cent in all departmental expenditures should not apply to his department. The best he would agree to was a reduction of 3 per cent for a period of three years only.

Saionji refused to sanction this attitude, but Uehara, instead of resigning, voluntarily or under pressure, stiffened in his tilt with the premier. This was last September, and at once the leading newspapers and the general public took the side of the premier. Leading bankers and business men, who have always supported the ministry heretofore, also came out against the stand taken by General Uehara in the face of the difficulties which faced the country. Such a great financier as Baron Shibusawa, well known in the United States as the president of the party of Japanese business men who toured the country in 1910, strongly censured the demands of Uehara.

Sinister Plot Hinted At

It was soon seen, however, that the entire war party of the empire was behind the minister of war, and that the all-powerful elder statesmen also supported him. Indeed, it is still an open question whether that venerable quintet did not concoct the Korean proposal for the purpose of checking the rise of the navy in popular approval. This has been charged but not proved. The fight raged until December 5, when the premier resigned, leaving the obdurate minister of war to his field, although minus his extra troops. It is an open question whether the war lords and the elder statesmen expected Saionji's withdrawal and the public indignation against them which followed. Instead of losing by the premier's act of self-abnegation, the advocates of retrenchment were disappointed. Saionji's party, the constitutional association, massed for definite action as no other party had ever done in Japan, and a vote of censure on the crown's advisers was passed in the house of representatives.

At this point it will be interesting to glance at the elder statesmen, those five old men who have been running Japan, and whose grip has by no means been effectually broken by the present turn of events. The "Gendro" or elder statesmen are a small body of experienced statesmen and soldiers who are appointed by the emperor to be his personal advisers. They really have no legitimate place in a constitutional form of government such as Japan professes, but their influence has been dominant ever since the restoration in 1868. One reason has been the preeminent qualities of the men. Only the greatest have been chosen. These men are, however, the greatest in Japan today. But they are also the most conservative standpointers. Hence their warring influence.

Parasol of Cabinet.
Prince Ito, one of the greatest statesmen of his time, judged by any standard, was head of the body and president of the privy council. His place is now held by Marshal Prince Yamagata. The other members are Marshal Prince Iwano, who was commander-in-chief of the Japanese army in the victorious war with Russia, Marquis Iwano and Marshal Matsukata. The appointment of Prince Matsukata a year ago to the post of lord keeper of the privy seal and grand chamberlain of the emperor's household, operated automatically to add him to the Gendro. A sort of ex-officio member is Count Watanabe, an official of the imperial household. They are all old men.

Saionji's resignation exposed the hand of the elder statesmen. They induced the emperor to prevail upon Saionji to reconsider his decision and to have the vote of censure withdrawn. Saionji respectfully declined to resume the post of premier but consented as to the second proposal. His party refused to follow him, however, and the emperor is still official. According to the Jiji, the Nichi Nichi and other leading newspapers, Marshal Prince Yamagata was responsible for Uehara's proposal and all the trouble that followed. There was a great flurry over the selection of a new premier. Yamagata is supposed to have favored either Prince Katsura or Count Terauchi, the governor-general of Korea. But officially he led his colleagues and other bureaucrats in urging Marquis Matsukata to take the place. This great man was once a financial wizard and served twice as premier in his palmy days. He was recuperating at Kamakura from the fatigue incident to 78 well spent years when the appeals of his colleagues reached him. He toyed with the idea of returning to public life, for several days. It was finally so far as to examine a striking review of financial reports, but finally gave a decisive refusal to be roused from his repose at the foot of Daijutsu. It was well known that Prince Yamagata, fairly itched to make Count Terauchi premier. This was impossible in view of his close connection with the Korean reserve scheme which had caused all the discord. It was finally decided that Prince Katsura was one statesman whom it would be safe to appoint in view of the public's bad temper. He became premier December 21, and thus for the third time headed a national ministry.

Katsura's Recall Only a Truce.

Katsura's return to public life merely served as a truce in the night. The change of premiers did not change the economic perplexities in the slightest. As it was well known that he also stood in with the Korean plan, and as the nation generally opposed it, as stoutly as before, the situation was exactly the same. The press was quite outspoken. It was generally admitted that Katsura was the most acceptable standard-bearer of the emperor's policy, but what they want, and will ultimately get, is a premier who represents expanding public sentiment rather than ingrowing aristocracy. It was believed that they should have as premier Tatsuoka Yamamoto, who as Saionji's minister of finance, unearthed the financial vagaries of his predecessors.

Katsura was also unfortunate in the formation of his cabinet. He was unable to get the support of the powerful Vice Premier, Baron Kato. The baron had been minister of the navy under Saionji. By keeping him in the cabinet Katsura would be able to placate the navy element. Saionji repeatedly refused to continue at his post. Katsura played his last card by inducing the young emperor to call Admiral Saito before him to receive the following imperial rescript:

"I have been thinking of you for a long time occupied the office of naval administration and that much is expected of you at the present time when important affairs of diverse descriptions are awaiting settlement we desire that you continue your exertions in spite of the condition of your health."

The rescript had the desired effect, but it costed. Had a similar imperial mandate been given to Governor Uehara three months before the split would not have occurred? Chuo-organ of the Seiyukai party, did not fail to draw the comparison. The appointment of Mr. Shibata Kamon as minister of education was strongly criticized, as it was charged that he is not of sufficient ability to be a cabinet member. Katsura's failure to say positively that he would favor the most rapid expansion of $150,000

1,400 Sign Petition to Close Cheyenne Avenue for School

More than 1,400 signatures were attached to the petition filed with the city clerk yesterday afternoon asking that Cheyenne Avenue be closed in order that the entire block can be devoted to the High school buildings.
C. H. Dudley, a director in the school district, filed the petition. The law requires 975 signatures but several hundred additional were easily secured.
The question will not be put before the voters for the April election but will come up at the second election April 15. The streets will be entirely closed, but a path will be left for pedestrians.
Petitioners are being signed for a vote
at the second election of the question of compelling the Santa Fe Railroad to build an undercrossing on Chuyarraz street.

TO AMEND RELIEF
FUND ORDINANCES
Amendments to the ordinances
providing for the fire and police relief fund probably will be made in the near future in order that a method may be provided for collecting money for the monthly payments of the men legally. City Auditor Henderson says that as the ordinances stand he has no authority to deduct the monthly payments from the salary checks of the men. If it cannot be arranged to do this legally some other method will have to be devised. The city council held an informal discussion yesterday afternoon as to the proper amendments to draw up.

MRS. M'INTYRE'S ARREST

Contending that his charge against Mrs. Bee McIntyre of obtaining goods under false pretenses had been filed after she had been brought to this city from Denver on a similar charge sworn to by another firm, and that he was for this reason not responsible for her arrest, I. Polant has appealed to the county commissioners to absolve him from paying the costs of Mrs. McIntyre's trial. A jury in Justice Huntington's court last week acquitted Mrs. McIntyre of the charge preferred against her by Polant, and assessed the costs of the case, amounting to something more than $35 to him. Following Mrs. McIntyre's acquittal on Polant's charge, another charge, filed in Justice Gowdy's court was dismissed. It is improbable that the county commissioners will grant Polant's appeal, although they have not ruled finally on the application.

SLUGS FOR NICKEL-FIRST PHONES ARE DISTRIBUTED

The coins to be used in the nicklefirst telephone to call the police or fire departments in time of emergency have been secured by the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company, as specified in the ordinance governing telephones passed several weeks ago by the city council. The coins are brass, similar in size to a nickle, on one side being the inscription, "M. S. T. & T. C. fire and police," and on the other a number.
They are to be placed near the phones in a convenient slot and the coins will be returned by the operator after the call and can be used again.
More than 500 phones have this attachment.
The section of the ordinance which provides a penalty for the misuse of the coins is attached to the phones.
Three numbered slugs will be provided each telephone and if any are used otherwise than for call in emergencies, the fault can be located.

"London Girls" Here in Tabloid Musical Skit

By E. F. M.
Last night "The London Girls" opened the popular price season at the Opera house. They were seen in the musical tabloid success "The King of Aloabazoo" with exceptionally fine motion pictures and "A-One" vaudeville act made the entire program a pleasing entertainment.
This new line of amusement has been heralded as a popular entertainment and has met with wonderful success in the east, where it originated.
It will no doubt be a success here, that is if the laughter and applause of last night's audience means anything.
In the part (and I think you will agree with me) the motion pictures offered at the Opera house have never been up to the standard, but now the biggest and best lighted pictures I have ever seen are being given. A new machine has been installed and the subjects are above the average.
The "London Girls" will be here for a two weeks' engagement when "The Dixie Girls" will be seen.

MRS. BOYD A CANDIDATE FOR CITY COMMISSIONER

Mrs. Jenny Shelley Boyd, president of the Women's club, has taken out petition blanks, and will be a candidate for city commissioner, subject to the elections in April. This is the first time in the history of the city that a woman has been a candidate for a place in the city council. Mrs. Boyd is one of the most prominent women in the city, and, besides being president of the Woman's club, is third vice president

MRS. JENNY SHELLEY BOYD.

of the Civic league. She is also interested in other organizations. She would, if the commissioners were to be elected to the departments of which they are to have in charge, try for the commissionership of health and sanitation, she says. She adds that she would not care for either the commissionership of public safety nor that of public works.

Counting Mrs. Boyd, it is now certain that there will be at least 25 candidates in the field at the first election for the two commissionerships. Mrs.
Boyd was the twentieth to take out petition blanks, and five more were given out yesterday. Of these five, two were taken out by the Hillside improvement society, but that organization was then unable to state who its candidates will be. The other three blanks were given out to J. J. Eubank, manager of the Russell-Gates Mercantile company; Edwin J. Eaton, president of the Colorado Savings bank, and E. E. McCleskey, a local tobacco dealer.
The petitions of candidates, whether for mayor or commissioner, may be filed with City Clerk Charles Chapman up to 5 o'clock this afternoon. It is probable that all the 25 who have taken out blanks as candidates for commissioner will file their petitions. Acceptances of nomination may be filed up to 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

ELMAN'S CONCERT TONIGHT

Tonight comes the concert by the great Elman, and expectation is running high. Much has been promised for him, and there is ample proof that he will fulfill every promise.

Elman has a way of winning his audience from the start. Somehow, one feels, when he comes onto the stage, that an extraordinary concert is about to commence; that one is in the presence of a natural-born genius, and that the event will be a life-memory, and it is so, for, let him draw but the first of those long, steady tones, vibrant with emotion, and guided by a true instinct for the beautiful, and he has you won, and won for all time, for Elman's playing is not to be forgotten.

Elman has become the criterion by whom other violinists are judged. It is a remarkable thing that a young man, in his early twenties, should have plied by Viktor Herbert, the composer, and her histrionic ability, which marks her as a comedienne of brilliant power and expression, is given the advantage of a fine characterization as conceived by Hilda Johnson Young the authoress. The part of Marietta is that of a little French countess, who runs away from her convent and joins a shipload of maidens being sent out to New Orleans in 1759 as wives for the soldiers. In America, she becomes the object of attention of the son of the lieutenant governor, who, in reality, is a famous pirate. As such, he receives the official protection of his father, who is practically in league with the son, in spite of his high official position. His attentions to Marietta are not appreciated by the young lady, as she has become enamored of a young American—a captain of the Forest Rangers—who is a woman hater. These three characters form a triangle on which a powerful romantic and, at times, very amuspoint, which he has ever supplied for a comic opera.

SCOTT AND AMUNDSEN

A short time since the world was shocked to learn of the death of Captain Scott and his companions as they were returning to the coast of the Antarctic continent, after having reached the South pole. Just a month before Scott gained the earth's south axis, the Norwegian explorer, Captain Amundsen, his keenest rival, attained the same goal and planted the flag of his country there. Scott tells in the diary the reading of passages from which has not only saddened, but thrilled, the world; how he found not only the flag that Amundsen had planted and the little hut in which they had stayed during their three days at the pole, but even the tracks in the snow just as they had been made by the men and dogs of Amundsen's party.

If further proof of Amundsen's achievement than his word and records were required, the statement of Scott would be ample to confirm it. Why Scott Lost His Life.

The world has pondered the fate of Scott, and many reasons have been advanced for his unhappy end. The whole truth will never be known, but in clearing up the reason for his fate the testimony of Captain Amundsen will be found that of an expert.

Those who attend the lectures that Amundsen will give at The Burns tomorrow will learn much concerning the work done by Scott and the cause of the disaster which overtook his expedition. Amundsen traces on the map the route taken by Scott, indicates the difference in the country traversed and the methods employed by each. He brings out very clearly the reasons for the faster time (and time is life in polar journeys) made by the expedition under his command and its return to headquarters in good order, while Scott gained the pole only to perish on the way back. These and many similar matters will be taken up in the lecture.

SPRING GIRL WAS MANY ADVENTURES

Heroine of Wreck in South Pacific to Visit Here in Short Time

Miss Annie Gilhooly, the sole survivor of the wreck of the North German Lloyd steamer Ludwig der Kleine, has returned to America, and will visit her friends here in the near future. She formerly lived here.

Last ashore on an island in the South seas, she succeeded in overruling the simple natives until they looked upon her as being from another world. The fortunate appearance of a United States cruiser just as the savages began to rebel at her rule undoubtedly saved Miss Gilhooly's life. She succeeded in bringing with her to the ship several of the young girls of the island. These she has trained to accompany her in her songs and dances, as she is planning to appear in vaudeville at the Metropolitan Opera house when she reaches New York.

Miss Gilhooly has good reason to feel grateful to the young island girls, for it was by their assistance that she kept the savage and supposedly cannibalistic natives in subjection. When living here, she was employed as a chambermaid, and upon being stranded upon the island, she immediately organized the servants into "The Hired Girls Union." By controlling the food supply of the natives she was able to exert almost royal authority.

While here Miss Gilhooly will be lavishly entertained by many of the leaders of society who are interested in her work of unloving the heathen. It is planned to tender her a reception at the Burns theater on the evening of March 27, and an invitation will be extended to the residents of the Pikes Peak region to attend.

She will be the house guest of the Pink family, who came from the same part of Ireland as Miss Gilhooly's parents, while in Colorado Springs.

COLORADO'S DISTINGUISHED GUEST HONORED BY STATE

Yesterday Capt. Roald Amundsen was welcomed in Denver as the honored guest of the city and state. The governor personally was present to do the honors for the commonwealth and the mayor for the municipality. In addition, many of those most prominent in the business and professional life of Denver awaited the arrival of the train to extend a hearty greeting to the famous explorer. His reception on his arrival in Denver, as elsewhere, was one that befitted his high attainments and notable achievements. A royal welcome has awaited this great man everywhere, and all are glad to show their respect for and admiration of Amundsen, the discoverer, and of Amundsen, the gentleman.

Colorado Springs will accord the hero of the Antarctic equal honors on his arrival here Wednesday, and it is already sure that the S. R. O. sign will be displayed at The Burns for his lectures on the "Discovery of the South Pole" tomorrow afternoon and evening. While much of the house is sold, an excellent choice of seats is yet obtainable in each section. Reservation today will assure you seats to your liking. Box office, The Burns, Phone Main 200.

FIREBUG IMPLICATES 35 OTHERS IN CONFESSION

CHICAGO, March 10.—Benjamin Frank, alleged "firebug," has made a detailed confession, implicating 35 members of the alleged arson trust, according to First Assistant State's Attorney Johnson today. Frank, also known as Frank and Finkelberg, has been under arrest in South Bend for two months, but has heretofore steadfastly denied any complicity in incendiary fires. The statement implicates several fire insurance adjusters who are said to be members of the combination, which has lured insurance companies out of large sums.

The Haskin Letter

THE CRISIS IN JAPAN.

III—TANGLED POLITICS.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Just a few years ago, was passed amid thunders of applause.

"Resolved that, whereas through the insolence and arrogance of the clans, which have now reached the extreme point, constitutional government is in danger, and we hereby pledge ourselves to exterminate clan government and rescue all offers for compromise or reconciliation, in order to protect the constitution."

Matters went from bad to worse, until mob violence began in February, as previously related. The public is familiar with the fresher events, particularly the overthrow of Katsura after being less than two months in the premier's chair. His last move was to attempt to dissolve the diet. One member of his cabinet voting against dissolution, the diet was saved, and there was nothing left for Katsura to do but to resign. For once the diet won decisively.

Prince Katsura's successor is Admiral Count Yamamoto. His appointment signifies the temporary eclipse of the war lords and the ascendancy of the navy, and that the Satsuma clan is returning to power at the expense of the Choshu clan. It also means that the 40,000 new soldiers for Korean defenses have still to be recruited. But the fight between the classes and constitutional rights has just begun.

Tomorrow: THE CRISIS IN JAPAN. IV—Nipponese Statesmen.

POPE IS IMPROVED

ROME, March 10.—The indisposition of Pope Pius X is pursuing a normal course and there is every promise of speedy recovery, according to Dr. Amici, the physician in attendance. He visited the pope at an early hour today. When asked about the truth of rumors of an aggravation in the condition of his patient he declared there was no ground for such reports.

Although the condition of Cardinal Respighi, the vicar general, has been made known to the pope, the latter, as though he had no intuition of the cardinal's grave state of health, today sent him the apostolic benediction.

CITY WATER CHANGES COLOR OF FLOWERS

EVANSTON, Ill., March 10.—Florists here complain that the city water, which is purified with hypochloride of lime is changing yellow chrysanthemums to an ashen color, while roses to pink and carnations to almost every shade but the one they should be. The commissioner of public works with whom the florists took up the matter said the water had nothing to do with changing the colors of the flowers. The florists will make an effort to keep the city from placing lime in the water and claim they will have the aid of the women, who some time ago complained that the water was bleaching their hair.

FEBRUARY DEATH LIST IN DENVER DECREASE

DENVER, March 10.—The city's death list for February shows a slight decrease compared with February of 1912, according to figures given by the city health department. For the month just past there were 288 deaths, as against 302 in February, 1912.

Not one death was reported last month from typhoid. There were more than 70 cases of scarlet fever, resulting in two deaths.

reached the point where he, and not the artists who have been prominent for a decade, should become the standard, but it is the natural result of his wonderful tone quality, which is so transcendently beautiful that, once one has heard it, there is no erasing it from the mind, even if one wished to lose no pleasurable memory.

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA"

Florence Webber, an American prima donna whose remarkable voice was recently discovered by Oscar Hammerstein, heads a company of two who are announced to present "Naughty Marietta" in this city, at the Grand Opera House, Monday, March 17. Miss Webber is now in her second year in the role of "Naughty Marietta" and has been a phenomenal success in the part. Her voice is permitted splendid and varied opportunities for its fullest display with the glorious music supplied by the splendid ability of Mrs. Young could find a play such as "Naughty Marietta" has proven to be. And the locality of the story—in old Louisiana; more than a century and a half ago—permitted Victor Herbert to write unique and characteristic music. His songs, duets, trios, quartets and ensembles are brimful of melodious gems; in fact, his and other competent judges consider the music for "Naughty Marietta" to be the most fascinating, as well as the best, from a musical standpoint.

Have You a Disordered Stomach and Liver?

Do you start the day feeling that the whole world is against you? You cannot hope to "make good" under these circumstances. Nobody can. You must have a clear brain and every organ in perfect trim to do justice to yourself.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Will Bring Quick Relief

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glyceric extract of Golden Seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherry bark, would aid in the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in nature's own way enrich the blood, tone the entire system and consequently help in the restoration of perfect health. Many who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery testify that they have been restored to health when suffering from stomach and liver ills. Let this famous old medicine start today to lead you to health and strength.

Now—if you prefer—you can obtain Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription tablets of your druggist at $1 per box, also in 50c size or send 50 one-cent stamps to R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, for a trial box.

You can learn all about hygiene, anatomy, medicine, etc., from the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, a newly revised, up-to-date edition of which is now offered, in cloth covers, post-paid, for 81 cents in one-cent stamps, to cover cost of wrapping and mailing only. Address, Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't be poisoned by sluggish bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar coated, tiny granules.

The Best Physicians Gave Him Up

"I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was a disordered stomach and liver, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long it had become so chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me, and I highly recommend it. I would advise all those as a spring tonic and further advice all those people to take Dr. Pierce's medicine before their disease has run so long that there is no chance to be cured."

News of Local Courts

When the game was still young, Court, some Fool Lawyer called so far as the Big Leagues were concerned, the fellows who were trying to get a foothold in a town City found that it was hard. Whereat the Dutchman promptly picked. The men with the Bankrolls were Skeptics and Iconoclasts. You couldn't inveigle one of them with Sugar, nor show him where Baseball would ever Buy a Wrestling Jacket for a Flea. While the Promoters were Hunting Hard for the man with the Mazuma, they were Sticed onto a Jolly German, who Ran a small Saloon, and who was reputed to be a Sporty Gick with a little Coin in the old Wallet.

To the Surprise and Delight of the Enthusiasts they found the Dutchman was Dead Game. He didn't know a Base Hit from the Umpire's Tooth-Brush, but he was Willing, and there was a Ballpark, ready for the Grabbing, right across the Street from his Saloon. So the German became the Chief Investor, and a Ball-club was framed for the Fast company, while the Weekly Meetings of the Shareholders were held in the Back room of the Dutchman's Drum, and the Clank of Schooners was much Louder than the Clang of Shekels.

Now, there is an old Adage that Nothing is so Lucky, as a Boob who is just Beginning. In this Case it went that Way and Double. Wholly by Bull Luck and Fortuitous Circumstance the Dutchman hired a Wise Young Fellow for a Manager and Captain, and this Lad Assembled round Him a Gang of Conscienceless—Desperadoes who would Commit Mayhem to Get an Extra Base and who only Balked at Murder because an Arrest would Take a good Player out of the Lineup. Playing Red-hot Ball and Putting over Tricks that were twenty years ahead of the Time, this crowd of Joyous Banditti Swept the Boards. For four Years they were the Champions, and the Record that they made has never been Beaten. And while the Club was Pulverizing all Opposition, the Money simply Hurled Itself through the Gates. The Public, always Appreciating the Real Thing, gave up the Bright Simoleons till the Men in the Box Office could not Lift their Weary Aims, and the Dutchman Got to be so Rich he couldn't Blow even the Interest on the Income.

And all this time the German Magnate remained just the Same Dutchman. He Learned Nothing of the Technique and Inner Detail of the Game, but he knew his Club Were Champions because Everybody told him so, and he had never seen the Time when he Couldn't Count Money.
